

O COME!

We receive many prayer requests all year long. Often they are filled with the anguish and fear of illness and unemployment. Others are full of hope and dreams, like those for newlyweds or newborn babies. All of them we present to the Lord with our own lives. During this last week of preparation before Christmas the whole Church cries out even more fervently: O come! For all those whose names and faces we know: O come! For those, far, far away: O come! Come to save us without delay! Join with us in our prayer. He will surely listen to us.
